

Monterey Museum of Art
Annual Report 2018–2019

Dear Friends of the Monterey Museum of Art

In this year's report you will see how we have moved ever closer to fulfilling our mission and sharing our vision for the future. Over the past year we have presented over thirty exhibitions, from the delicate porcelains of Coille Hooven to the bold iPad prints of David Hockney. We have acquired new works that increase our collection's diversity, and gave over fifteen local artists a space to show their work. All the while, our hands-on school program and the number of participating schools continues to grow along with a robust schedule of lectures, workshops, live performances, and an Artist in Residence program. These pages are filled with important acquisitions, remarkable community partners, and the generous support of the foundations, philanthropists, sponsors, staff, Board members and volunteers who make it all possible. We salute you and thank you.

Cultivating Curiosity in the Visual Arts

Exhibitions are the foundation for all of the Museum's education and public programs, events, and activities, and in fiscal year 2018-2019, the Museum presented a total of 36 exhibitions, presentations of the collection, and special installations—a 50% increase over the previous year. Just in time for MMA's 60th anniversary, the Museum presented David Hockney's Yosemite—marking the inaugural debut of Hockney's work in Monterey County. Equally dynamic, The New Domestic: Finding Beauty in the Mundane showcased several Bay Area artists, all women, and encouraged visitors to question gender, identity, and the use of materials and processes traditionally associated with the “craft world.” Further adding to the variety of art presented, works by San Jose State University art students were showcased in Into the Depths, a special pop-up exhibition at the La Mirada Cultural Center, which addressed the hazards of plastic pollution.

INSPIRED BY THE ART ON VIEW, students engage in hands-on art making during a school visit to the Museum.

Engaging Community Through Lifelong Learning

With MMA's regularly-changing exhibitions serving as the foundation for its education programs, the Museum is able to continuously expand and adapt programs to meet the growing demand for engaging art experiences. The Museum offers programs for all ages throughout the year, and key programs in fiscal year 2019 included the School Visit Program for K-12 students, Free Family Fun Days and Mobile Free Family Fun Days, scholarly lectures, talks and panel discussions, First Fridays, Spotlight Tours, artist-led workshops, Studio Tours, the Schools Make Art (SMArt) after-school program, art camps, and elegant cultural events.

Education Programs Highlights

- ✔ A total of 3,299 K-12 students from 141 different classrooms participated in the School Visit Program throughout the year—a 34% increase in participation over the previous year.
- ✔ Free Family Fun Day programming was expanded by adding Mobile Free Family Fun Day activities, serving a total of 3,208 children and families—a 116% increase in participation over the previous year.
- ✔ The Museum launched its new Schools Make Art (SMArt) after-school program—offered free of charge to participants.
- ✔ A total of 15 scholarly lectures, talks, and panel discussions provided visitors with valuable insights about art.

“My son and I had a wonderful time at Free Family Fun Day. He liked it so much that he's already asked me several times when we're going again. He quickly shared with mom about how much he enjoyed the art scavenger hunt, and also showed her the book that he made. All of the volunteers working that day were amazing! I could feel how much they loved what they were doing, and I'm sure my son did too. I know that such experiences enrich his life and his mind so much. It is worth the drive from Salinas. We can hardly wait to go again. Thank you.”

Learning Opportunities for All Ages

Sparking Interest in Arts and Culture for K-12 Students

The expansion of the School Visit Program in fiscal year 2018-2019 offered classrooms double the variety of learning experiences to choose from than in the previous year. Students learned about Early California paintings, photography, curation, and sculpture—with visits encouraging cultural literacy, skill building, and exploring the creative process through art making. MMA offers the program for free, and was able to provide busing to 100% of the public school classrooms that visited during the year.

Giving Youth a Voice Through Art After School

In fiscal year 2018-2019, the Museum launched its Schools Make Art (SMArt) program at Seaside Middle School. A free after-school art program, SMArt provides students with opportunities to express their creative voices in a positive environment. Through a “zine-centric” curriculum, students make art and friends, and are able to share their zines and other artworks at a culminating art show at the end of each session.

Advancing Arts Scholarship and Dialogues About Art

Scholarly lectures, talks, and panel discussions are a way for visitors to expand their knowledge about a variety of art topics. In fiscal year 2018-2019, author Barbara Bullock-Wilson shared about her mother—photographer Edna Bullock, art advisor and certified art appraiser Lily Yu discussed art collecting, and members of Salon Jane talked about their diverse creative processes and photographic works.

MMA PARTNER AND LOCAL CATERING BUSINESS

A Moveable Feast, owned by Michael Jones, generously provided tasty and sustainable bites for visitors during exhibition openings and events throughout the year.

Strengthening the Community Through Partnerships

Throughout fiscal year 2018-2019, MMA partnered with a number of groups and individuals in order to enhance experiences and maximize educational opportunities for visitors. Through partnerships, the Museum and its partners diversified programming and expanded cultural engagement opportunities to serve as many people in the community as possible.

Community Partnerships Highlights

- ✔ MMA partnered with Martin Luther King Jr. School of the Arts to bring 100% of their classrooms to the Museum for school visits, to offer Mobile Free Family Fun Day activities on their campus, and to jointly participate in professional development led by Turnaround Arts: California.
- ✔ The Museum's partnership with Monterey County Free Libraries helped them to attract more visitors while providing spaces for the Museum to offer arts outreach in cities throughout Monterey County.
- ✔ A partnership with the San Jose State University art department and Lance Fung Collaboratives resulted in pop-up exhibition, Into the Depths, at the MMA La Mirada Cultural Center.
- ✔ MMA's partnership with local catering business A Moveable Feast, owned by Michael Jones, provided creative, tasty, and sustainable bites for visitors during many exhibition openings and events—while also introducing visitors to the cuisine and services offered by A Moveable Feast.

GENEROUS SUPPORTERS CELEBRATED MMA's 60th ANNIVERSARY at the Museum's Diamond Jubilee Gala—to benefit special exhibitions and educational programs.

“Ned and I believe access to the visual arts plays a critical role in stimulating creativity and developing vital communities. Our support of MMA not only enriches our lives but the lives of our next generation—their capacity for learning, discovery, and achievement.”

"The Monterey Museum of Art hosts over 3,000 children a year to come and spend the day learning about art and experiencing a museum—often for the first time. Its impact reaches far beyond these four walls to all across Monterey County."

President

2018–2019 Docents and Volunteers

Thank you to the docents and volunteers who contributed to the success of MMA's exhibitions, programs, events, and special projects throughout the year. Docents and volunteers shared their time and talents by assisting with exhibitions and collections projects, helping with the School Visit Program, Free Family Fun Days, and special events, and lending a hand to complete a variety of administrative projects. Through their work, docents and volunteers benefit from continuing art education, special volunteer appreciation events, and opportunities to meet artists, art professionals, and other creatives.
